This is the first course required for all of Georgia's IT pathways. Exposure to foundational knowledge in hardware, software, programming, web design, IT support, and networks are all taught with hands-on activities and project focused tasks. Various forms of technologies will be highlighted to expose students to the emerging technologies impacting the digital world. Learning Environment: The course utilizes a blended classroom approach. The content is fully web-based, with students writing and running code in the browser. Teachers utilize tools and resources provided by CodeHS to leverage time in the classroom and give focused 1-on-1 attention to students. Each unit of the course is broken down into lessons. Lessons consist of video tutorials, short quizzes, example programs to explore, and written programming exercises. Programming Environment: For the programming units, students write and run JavaScript programs in the browser using the CodeHS editor. For the web design unit, students write HTML and CSS code in the browser using the CodeHS online editor. Classes can choose to write code using either blocks or text.
